FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

$1.1 Billion Settlement Reached in CPAP Litigation

Messa & Associates is pleased to announce the successful resolution of the CPAP litigation through a $1.1 billion settlement. This settlement resolves both personal injury claims and medical monitoring claims related to recalled Philips Respironics devices.

Throughout this litigation, Plaintiffs' counsel revealed the significant dangers posed by defendants' recalled devices. These devices emitted toxic particles and fumes directly into Plaintiffs' respiratory systems. This settlement specifically addresses the injuries caused by the toxic exposure, which includes respiratory injuries and respiratory cancers.

"This settlement underscores the importance of holding corporations accountable for the safety of their products," said Ashley DiLiberto, attorney at Messa & Associates. Joseph Messa, founding Partner of Messa & Associates, echoed this sentiment, stating, "Our clients' well-being is our top priority, and we will always do everything we can to ensure they are fairly compensated."

Messa & Associates will be providing further communications to our clients in the coming days and weeks to provide further updates on the settlement process.
